About Us

India suffers from a severe shortage of trained paramedical personnel (Allied Health Professionals AHP). On this backdrop, School For Skills (SFS) Academies, an academic institution for AHPs was established in 2013 in West Bengal. It was founded by specialist doctors with in-depth experience of the health sector and expectations from AHP.

Today, powered by the performance of its students working across the country, SFS have grown to be present in 6 states in India.
